

“Distance Education sits at the forefront of educational development. Many of our students are amazed at the progress they make in their studies and the results they attain. Parents are surprised how much they learn themselves about the curriculum and how they are better able to support their student’s learning.

Quality education is vital in a rapidly changing and increasingly competitive world. Ensuring your child doesn’t miss out on continuous and vital learning opportunities is critical to their long-term educational success. Sydney Distance Education Primary School is dedicated to providing engaging and challenging learning materials that can support and encourage your student to perform at their best.

You are welcome to telephone the school for further information or, if you are in Surry Hills, visit the school to learn how best we may serve your needs.”
